

ARLINGTON OVER THE TOP IN COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN

Capping Exercises Held at Symmes

Sixteen students received caps and bibs Monday evening, in the classroom of the Symmes Arlington Hospital. The ceremony was very impressive. A pageant portraying the characters in the History of Nursing was first presented. This was followed by the capping of the students. Each student entered the class room carrying lighted candles where Miss Hunt, Miss Mueller, practical instructor, and Miss McLaughlin, president of the Class of 1941, presented them with their caps. The students then recited the Florence Nightingale Pledge and marched out of the class room singing "Follow the Glean." The parents of the students were also present at the exercises.

Miss Brown, superintendent of the hospital, introduced to the audience each member of the faculty. Refreshments were served and a reception took place in the living room later.

Morale Higher Say Letters from England

The following letters received from South Wales by Professor Arthur I. Andrews tell of the reactions of people in England to the bombing and burning of London.

South Wales
January 2nd, 1941

Dear Professor and Mrs. A.:
We were so pleased to have your New Year's Greetings yesterday. We would like to wish you both a happy and peaceful New Year. We were all delighted with Roosevelt's speech and are grateful to you all for what you are doing for us and for your splendid moral support. We shall not fail you.

I expect you wonder what our reactions are to the burning of London. We are sad at the loss of what we value deeply but most of us take this indiscriminate bombing as a desperate action by a man who is cornered and must act quickly. Our morale is higher than ever, as now, even more than before, we are determined to carry on to a successful end, cost what it may.

We had a very quiet Christmas, with no sirens in any part of the country. My husband is enjoying the rest here; he spent one night, a few days before coming here, in putting out with a spade and earth, incendiary bombs in the gardens behind our house in London. One

Cadet Walker Lands On Rough Field With Plane Unhurt

Arlington Boy Graduates Tomorrow from Flying Cadet Course.

The rare adventure of a New England young man in his final month of training as an Army Flying Cadet was revealed Monday, when William George Walker, Jr., returned to his home at 30 Brantwood road on a few days leave before his graduation from the Flying Cadet course tomorrow at Maxwell Field, Alabama.

Cadet Walker joined the small group of pilots who have set down their planes on an ordinary rough field at night, with landing gear retracted so that the plane slid to a stop on its belly. The incident occurred during a night cross-country flight from Maxwell Field to Mobile to Crestview, Florida, and return to Maxwell Field.

Only ten miles from home on the return flight, Cadet Walker's plane was forced down shortly after midnight. Ordinarily, in such an unusual event, the pilot releases a flare to light up the ground and then bails out of the plane with his parachute. But after dropping a flare, Cadet Walker decided he had a chance to make a landing. He came down into a muddy field, brushing a tree with one wing in the process, and the only damage was a small dent in the wing and a bent propeller.

Appointed last July after passing the written examination required of candidates who have not completed two years of college, Cadet Walker has just turned 21 as he awaits his commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Corps Reserve. He is the son of Lt. William G. Walker, Inf., who is stationed at the Boston Army Base on the staff of Major General James A. Woodruff, Commanding General of the First Corps Area.

Delightful Music At Philharmonic's Chamber Concert

The first of the Chamber Concerts scheduled for this year by the Philharmonic Society of Arlington, for its members, was held at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon at the spacious and cheerful home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Muller, on Massachusetts avenue.

Stanley Souster, accompanied by Mrs. Edwin L. Allen, delighted the audience in the following songs: "Evening Star," Tannhauser; "The Blind Ploughman," Robert Clark, and his own composition, "All Hail to Thee, America."

STANLEY SOUSTER

With charm and feeling Mrs. Richard Howe sang a group of English songs, and the soprano aria from the Italian Opera Il Re Pastore, by Mozart, accompanied by Mrs. Kathleen Cosgrove at the piano. Leonard Wood played the violin obligato.

Verne Powell, noted flutist, with Ward Steady at the piano, delighted everyone by his beautiful rendition of the Sonata in F Major by Jean Baptiste Loeillet, and Sonata in G Major by Handel. In the audience was Mr. Kincaid, member of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, who is recognized as the best flutist in the country. It was Mr. Kincaid who bought Mr. Powell's platinum flute which was exhibited at the World's Fair. Once a year he flies over from Philadelphia to visit Mr. Powell and play his many flutes.

BRITISH RELIEF TEA TO BE GIVEN BY GIRL SCOUTS

February is International Relations month for Girl Scouts, and in Arlington this fact is recognized by the British War Relief Tea which the Arlington Girl Scout Leaders' Association is sponsoring at the British Relief work room, St. John's church, on Pleasant street, next Monday afternoon, February 10th, from 3.00 to 4.30 o'clock. It is hoped that those interested in scouting will attend. The program, of which Mrs. Justin McCarthy is chairman, will consist of songs by the Girl Scout Glee Club, and the Investiture of an English refugee child by Troop 18. Mrs. Kenneth Reed, leader. There will be an interesting table of exhibits of British War Relief Work done by the Girl Scouts, arranged by Mrs. Arthur Forsythe and Mrs. Carl Barstow. Former commissioner Mrs. Clifford Gleason, present commissioner Mrs. Kenneth Russell, and chairman of the leader's association, Mrs. Paul Duncan, will pour. The committee in charge of plans for the tea is Mrs. O. Chadwell, chairman; Mrs. Joseph Brine, Mrs. Robert Crawford, Mrs. C. W. Johnson, Mrs. Charles Rountree, and Mrs. J. Milton Washburn.

High School Players Ready for "What a Life"

The rehearsals have been under way for some time for "What a Life" by Clifford Goldsmith, to be produced by the High School Dramatic Club, and the play shows promise of being a good one, with Harry Hansen as "Henry" and a supporting cast that includes Fay Williams, as "Barbara"; Terry Shuman, Jr., as "Mr. Bradley", and Nancy Duncan as "Mrs. Aldrich."

Mrs. Helen Matthews and Miss Clara Johnston are coaching the play.

Fifteen of Arlington's twenty-six draftees accepted the invitation of the Arlington Rotary Club and attended the weekly luncheon at the Middlesex Sportsman's Association clubhouse yesterday, as guests of honor. The eleven boys who refused the invitation were working at their civilian jobs up to the last minute.

After luncheon and the singing led by Dr. Brace I. Lawley, President James J. Golden, Jr., introduced Chief Archie F. Bullock, chairman of the local defense committee. The Chief addressed the draftees and expressed his gratification that they would have the opportunity to learn discipline and become better fitted for their life work. He warned the boys to guard against the tricks that the old-timers would attempt to play on rookies and exhorted them to learn rapidly to secure promotions, because the higher you are in the army, the less drudgery and disagreeable work you have to do. Further he said, "go to prepare so that they may be ready to serve in defense of peace and justice" and that "Rotary joins with all of Arlington in wishing them Godspeed."

Soldiers, he said, love to receive letters; to encourage the receipt of letters "write many yourselves and to aid in this effort, the Rotary club presents each draftee with a fountain pen with his name inscribed."

Children Tell Arlington's History Superintendent of Schools Joseph F. Keating presented Miss Mary E. O'Connor, supervisor of elementary schools, who briefly explained the necessity for an abridged history of Arlington and the preparation of a loose-leaf booklet "Story of Arlington" and the teaching of its contents in the schools. The preparation of the material is the result of the effort of many teachers.

Then followed recitations by several pupils of the Parmenter fifth grade, with a background of charts of "Things We Want to Know," "Things We Want to Do," a transportation by land exhibit, a collection of prints of Cyrus E. Dallin's work, and drawings of famous buildings and places of interest by the Parmenter school fifth grade, Miss Wyllian Barrett, teacher.

This was followed by a quiz pro-

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Automobile Owners

Automobile owners are requested to cooperate with the Board of Public Works by not parking automobiles on the highways during and after snow storms while plowing and removal work is in progress, so that streets may be cleared and normal traffic resumed.

In the past automobiles parked on both public and private ways have greatly hampered the Public Works Department in its snow work.

Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

fell on his dug-out, but in the whole road only one house was struck and that fire was soon put out by the Fire Brigade, though hundreds of incendiary bombs fell in the district.

We were so happy to have a cable from S. on Christmas Day. I think everyone enjoyed Christmas—there was no gaiety but most families tried to have reunions. We went to my parents' (it was quiet there those few days) and had goose and plum pudding, and then they came to us and had turkey and plum pudding—and of course mince pies.

We have just had news that a young friend of ours who escorted evacuees to Australia was killed on her way home when the ship was torpedoed—she was only nineteen. Besides Mrs. Dodge, she leaves another daughter, Miss Ruth P. Lowell of Springfield and two grandchildren.

My husband was able to get extra petrol to bring the car from London, as the garage was badly damaged, and all the way down (over 200 miles) he only saw signs of bombing in one town after leaving London. S. was so pleased to hear from Elizabeth. It is good of you all to take an interest in her.

Furious at Burning of London
Most of the country is absolutely furious at the burning of London. Some want reprisals but most agree to the wisdom of the RAF in bombing military targets only.

We have recently been issued car-plugs—but I have not yet met anyone who thinks of using them. Strangely enough the gun-fire gives us confidence—I have heard many say this. I can hear gun-fire as I write but as it is several miles away, I have not moved from the fire (place in the room. Ed.)—there is nothing here of importance. They are amused at my stupid remark to J. (her young son). J. was banging some toffee with a poker and I said, in an annoyed tone, "Don't make so much noise with the poker. I can't hear the gun-fire." It gives me and others, too, a real feeling of standing up to it, and hitting back, but it is easy to feel thus when you feel safe and comfortable in a chair and not huddled in a dug-out.

My husband returns to London, to a dug-out and to sleeping in his clothes on Monday. A cousin of mine in North Wales is very busy, taking out a van with loads of warm clothes given by your fine people in America to our poor evacuees and those bombed out of their homes. The Women's Voluntary Service does really fine work with the homeless. We have over a thousand evacuees and homeless Londoners in this little town.

I shall be very busy next week, I am on the Catering committee of our new Evacuees Mothers Club and our first affair is a Christmas party for nearly 500, and we are doing all the catering ourselves—not quite so easy in war-time, as we have to collect from kind friends tea and margarine which are both rationed. After the party the Club will be open daily.

We all approve of the appointment of Lord Halifax as Ambassador to you. He is fine and honourable, but his virtues are a handicap for a Foreign Secretary in these days of ruthless Dictators.

We would do anything for Churchill. The country has complete faith in him. His speeches are a pleasure to listen to, he has courage and he seems to instill it in his listeners.

One hears everywhere, "The Americans are fine". J. was thrilled to-day when we passed in our car two American Ambulances.

Yours sincerely,
N. L.

"Plucky People"

South Wales
January 5th, 1941

The gun-fire we heard in the distance on Thursday was from Cardiff, where they had a severe "blitz" as you will have read in the American Press. We were thankful the Civic Centre—beautiful buildings—museum, etc., had not been touched, but the Cathedral a mile or so away was very badly demolished. The futile bombing had no war winning effect. People carry on just as usual. The fire brigade must have worked wonderfully all night. One could see here and there shops and houses completely burnt out and yet buildings alongside miraculously saved. There was no excuse for bombing the Cathedral—it is some distance from the center of the town. The roof was very badly damaged we could see, and we were told there is a great deal damaged we could not see. We had business in Cardiff and were allowed to go anywhere except dangerous spots. We had to make a slight detour owing to an unexploded land-mine.

The people who had been bombed out were wonderful. A friend of mine was serving tea to them in a mobile canteen at 3 a. m. All the light they had was a torch. She said "there was no murmur of complaint or dissatisfaction." My friend could find no words to express her admiration for these plucky people. Some who were filing past the canteen for tea had lost all their belongings and yet there was not a word of complaint.

It makes me ashamed of living here in comfort but my husband insists on my being with J. and will not let us return to London. Six of us are in charge of making all the refreshments for the 300 evacuees on Thursday, as well as serving to the Club we are opening tomorrow.

Yours sincerely,
E. L.

Hamilton to Dance With Harriet Hctor At Malden Benefit

Bringing together for the first time two of America's foremost exponents of the art of the dance, it was announced yesterday, Miss Harriet Hctor will have Vonn Hamilton, brilliant young featured male dancer of the Metropolitan Opera Company, as guest artist in her benefit concert at the Malden Auditorium on Friday evening, February 14.

Appreciative Audience Hears Hackett Pupils

The Doris Hackett School of Dramatic Art presented a mid-year recital to a most appreciative audience of parents and friends at the Old Mill Coach room on Friday evening. This was a varied program of readings and monologues by these young students of the drama. The selections were well chosen and delivered with an air of assurance.

Each reading was preceded by an introduction composed by the reader. These gave an interesting insight into their instruction in public speaking.

George MacGray of "The Merchant of Venice" and "You Can't Take It With You," is known around the club as "the man who loves bits." He would rather do a small role than a big one. He has a homey character in this, one of the Irish Parishioners, and does it very well. Bernadine Brooks of "Night Must Fall" and Mrs. Ruth Stevens of "Ladies in Linen," have working class depictions to do and come off pretty well.

"Shadow and Substance" was first produced at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, which the play made. Eddie Dowling brought it to the American stage in the John Golden Theatre, New York, in 1928. St. George Hardwicke and J. J. Flynn brought it to Boston following that hurricane year and it stayed two weeks.

Arlington Cagers Down Newton, 33-28

Coach George Fusco's basketball team chalked up its second Suburban League victory last Friday afternoon at the expense of Newton. The final score was 33-28 in favor of the Red and Gray. The game was played on the Arlington floor and evens up the 40-41 series at one apiece, Newton having taken a three-point decision in the early part of December. Again the locals divided the scoring with guards totaling twelve points.

Arlington took an early lead and never lost it, although they were seriously threatened in the waning moments of the contest by a sudden Newton spurt which tied the score. The score board read 9-6 at the period and 18-12 at the half, with Arlington out in front. The third period saw the Fuscomen regain their six-point margin and go into the final session on the long end of a 25-19 count. It looked bad for Arlington during the first four minutes of this quarter. They were able to add only three points to their total, while the invaders from Newton rolled up nine to deadlock the game. Again it remained for Cotter and his colleagues to put on a winning drive. During these final minutes Newton was unable to tally while Arlington boosted its total to 33 points.

For the first time, Captain Tommy Cotter was forced to relinquish scoring honors to a teammate. Ritchie Ryrholm led the local contingent with ten points to his credit. Cotter and Dave Burke were right at his heels with eight and seven respectively. Norcross led the enemy scorers with four field goals.

After a rather slow, defensive game, the Newton reserves edged out a one-basket victory over Coach Warner's Arlington subs. The final on this was 15-13. The summary:

BOYS CLUB TIES WITH PALS FOR LEAGUE HONORS

With impressive wins over the Peter Pan Club and the Olympics, the Arlington Boys' Club this week went into a tie with the Pals for the top honors in the Arlington Basketball League sponsored by the local Adult Recreation project. Close on their heels, however, and with the same percentage rating but with one less win are the Quincy A. C., whose position has not changed from last week because of the schedule arrangement.

The Eagles dropped an easy one to the more experienced Rangers by a 70 to 36 score, but put on the best game of the week when they took a thriller from the St. Joseph team by the narrow margin of 25 to 21. Both teams were about evenly matched and put on a fast, good-look-at game.

The results for the week were: Rangers 70, Eagles 36; Boys' Club 63, Peter Pan 38; Eagles 25, St. Josephs 21; Pals 36, Cardinals 18; Boys' Club 46, Olympics 33.

'CANTABS DEFEAT H. S. PUCKSTERS

Cambridge Latin went out to a first period three to nothing lead and then managed to ward off the Arlington attack to escape with a 3-2 win last Saturday afternoon at the Garden. Melrose hung up victory number nine in piling up the season's largest score, 12-1 against the hapless Belmont six. The league leaders set a new Greater Boston record by scoring seven goals in one period for an average of a tally every minute and a half. Newton took over sole possession of second place by nosing out Stoneham 1-0, while Medford pulled the upset of the afternoon by shutting out Rindge, 2-0. Goalie Frank Tum-nelli was the main reason for this surprise win; he turned in one of the better goal-tending jobs of the season.

While the Cambridge Latin team was showing its best form of the season, Arlington played a very ragged first period to drop behind by a 3-0 count. Eddie Maguire was penalized for an illegal center zone check and Cambridge scored twice while he was cooling his heels in the box. Dynan put his team out in front after two and one half minutes of play, when he pushed Murphy's rebound into the cage. Bevins made a routine stop on Murphy's long shot but he didn't clear the puck properly and Dynan took advantage of the error. St. Hilaire made it two to nothing a half a minute later when he pushed the puck under Bevins' leg pad. What proved to be the winning margin was provided by Murphy at 11:45, just fifteen seconds before the end of the period. He got a clean break at center ice and lifted the disc high into the far corner of the cage. Arlington didn't have many chances during this twelve minutes.

The locals seemed to recover their stride in the second and third periods. Red Kelley replaced Bevins in the Arlington cage and held the Latin skaters scoreless during the last twenty-four minutes of play. Eddie Bennett took a pass from Blanchard after a minute and thirty-one seconds of the second session to cut the Cambridge margin down to a pair of goals. At 7:41 the combination was reversed with Blanchard getting the goal and Bennett making the assist. Art gave the scant crowd a fancy exhibition of stick handling in scoring this tally.

BASKETBALL NOTES

The open season on trading has begun and the first victim was Paul Hendrick, who traded himself from the Rangers to the Quincy A. C. Being as how Paul's pal, Danny Casey, is capering for the Quincys, it is understandable why Paul should "fine up."

"Phighting Phil" Lionetta of the Pals admits that he has reformed—just a little. Phil is a hard player, in there all the time to win, the kind coaches love but umpires—well, never mind. "From now on I'm just going to take it and like it," opines Phil.

The Red and Gray didn't threaten again in this period but they certainly made things hot for Al Toscano during the final stanza. With a minute to play Arlington forced a face-off at the right of the Cambridge net-minder. Bennett passed back to Blanchard and Art cut loose with a drive that just missed the front corner. A few seconds later Burns hit the far post with a shot and then Blanchard forced Toscano to make a brilliant stop seconds before the bell. But the Latin net-minder was up to the situation and Arlington suffered defeat number eight while the Cantabs were scoring their fourth victory. The summary:

Referees—Kelleher and Sanford.

"Who do I protest to?" yelled Eddie Hughes of the Boys' Club, after the first period of the Olympic game. "Here I just feel like playing tonight and what happens—I get tossed out of the game with four fouls in the first four minutes of the game." One-a-minute, Eddie, is some sort of a record, "anny-hoo."

Protest received from Frannie "Fixit" Keefe of the Rangers, not against the "nine old men" label tagged on his team last week, but because Bert Lindval was included with the "young bloods." Some people just can't be jealous without showing it.

And by the way, the "Fixit" part of Frannie's title comes from his campaign promise to fix it so that any citizen (or voter) can take a book out of the Library. Facetious.

The funniest thing you ever saw was the brotherly love act put on by the Burke "bys," Davie, the Porker of the Boys' Club, and "Lil" Eddie of the Olympics. In true brotherly fashion, Eddie was climbing all over Porky's back. He was about to yell foul until he saw who it was, so he just grinned—you see, Dad was one of the spectators.

It's worth the price of admission (no admission is charged) to hear these lads, after battling each other during the game, kidding each other as they enjoy a hot shower—that's the American Boy for you.

"Shanty" Hogan of the Pals, God love him, can inject a little wholesome comedy into every game he plays. The boys in the gallery take to him like a Fred Allen broadcast. "What a life!" sighed Chick Carigan. "Amen," quoth Johnny Lax—they're both umpires.

Arlington Noses Out Exeter, 5-4

Coach Charlie Downs led his Arlington hockey team into New Hampshire last Wednesday afternoon to defeat the Phillips Exeter Academy sextet by a 5-4 margin. The game was close all the way although the locals' lead wasn't seriously threatened after they once got out in front.

The first period saw the prep school skaters take a 2-0 advantage before Arlington was able to score. Williams and Moses passed Bevins at 5:22 and 3:23 respectively. Captain Art Blanchard started his team on the road to victory at 11:31 of the same period with a pretty solo effort.

The Arlington second line of Harvey, Cunha and Ritchie, gave the locals a 3-2 advantage in the second chapter. Cunha flashed the light at 3:20 and Ritchie repeated the stunt exactly two minutes later. Both these goals were unassisted. Captain Blanchard made it 4-2 after a minute and forty-six seconds of play in the final period, with another unassisted effort. Williams pumped his second goal into the Arlington net a couple of minutes later to keep the Exeter outfit in the game. Burns took a pass from Blanchard at 11:20, insuring a win for the high school six. Bernard reduced the victory margin to one goal at 12:17, but Arlington ward-ed off all attempts to equalize during the last minutes of play.

Arlington Loses Dartmouth Cup To Melrose Skiers

The Arlington High School Ski Club, winners of the Dartmouth Alumni Association cup award last year, went to Melrose last Saturday for the Mt. Hood Winter Carnival and lost the cup to Melrose skiers, who piled up 478.8 points in all skating events. Second was Medford with 445.2 points and third, Arlington with 406.6.

Marilyn Pierce placed third in the girls' cross-country ski, 1 1/2 miles, and second in the girls' downhill skiing. Third in that event was Eileen O'Reilly, and fourth, Gloria Frederickson, who also won the girls' hundred-yard ski dash.

Pictured in the Boston Sunday Herald, all lined up with their skis ready for action, were Virginia Bott, Dorothy Lewis, Therese Mallette, Mary Pratt, Pauline Keefe, and Peggy Hurley, while among the spectators were Dorothy Emus and Muriel Olsen.

Attention, Fans!

On account of the slowness or complete disregard of organizations in this town, the twenty-three members of the Arlington High School football squad are making an effort to supply themselves with a banquet. They are doing this entirely on their own, without any outside help—even from the coaching staff.

The boys have had chances printed and are now circulating them throughout the town. A grand prize which will be awarded prior to the banquet, is a radio.

If the athletes have enough initiative to plan this, print tickets, and sell them, there is no reason why the townsfolk cannot cooperate. The price of the tickets is low. The members of the squad are covering the town in an effort to raise expenses for the banquet. Come on you rabid High School football fans! Help the Arlington team to have what most other schoolboy teams are tendered at the close of a successful season. Let's have some of the spirit that prevailed between the goal lines during the past few months.

Rindge Thumps Arlington 48-31

The league-leading Rindge Tech basketball team preserved its undefeated record by thumping George Fusco's Arlington quintet to the tune of 48-31 last Tuesday afternoon at Rindge. The locals were no match for the high-flying Technicians, who are a cinch to take the Suburban crown and the Tourney bid that goes with it. Arlington now has a record of five wins and seven defeats for the current campaign; and two victories against six losses in Suburban competition. Brookline overpowered Cambridge Latin in the only other league game by a 29-21 count.

While the Red and Gray showed some promise against Rindge in their first meeting, they couldn't keep up with them on their home court. The Cambridge lads went out to an early lead and held it throughout the afternoon. Coach Fusco used the two team system in an effort to cope with the Rindge speed but his boys couldn't match the scoring pace of the league leaders. Allen, lanky Tech centre, had a great height advantage which enabled him to pile up nineteen points. Teammates Paglarani and Panas chalked up eight and seven points respectively. Sullivan and Ryrholm each had half a dozen to top the Arlington scorers.

NEXT WEEK

Coach Charlie Downs' hockey team meets the Stoneham skaters in the first game of a Thursday afternoon twin bill at the Garden. The Stoneham boys were upset last Saturday by Newton in a very tight contest, so they will be out to shoot the works against the sub par Arlington aggregation. The chances for a Red and Gray victory seem very slim indeed, especially if they don't get their bearings until the second period as was the case against Cambridge.

The Arlington outlook seems even more hopeless for Saturday's game in which they run into the powerful undefeated Melrose club. Arlington was able to hold the El Ponders to a six to three count in their first meeting, but they will be lucky if they can keep it close this time. The Melrose passing attack is clicking and the team is loaded with scorers as the Belmont koalies will testify.

Arlington has two games scheduled on the court. Waltham furnishes a Friday night attraction at Lowe Auditorium, while Cambridge Latin is the visitor on Tuesday afternoon. It wouldn't surprise us in the least if Arlington took both of these decisions. They were playing pretty good ball before they met Rindge and no team has shown to advantage against the technicians. Incidentally, the Melrose hockey game is scheduled for the Arena but there is a possibility that it might be shifted to the Garden as was the case last Saturday. The locals have second ice.

Cutter Choral Group Wants More Singers

During the Cutter School P. T. A. meeting held last week, Mrs. Emil Olson, director of the Choral Group, made an urgent appeal for more singers.

The spring performance of a year ago was a marked success, and it is planned to stage a similar performance this spring. The entire proceeds are to be devoted to the purchase of a movie projector for the children of the Cutter School.

Here is an opportunity for lovers of music, parents who are interested in the educational welfare of their children, to show their devotion. Those willing to join may call Arlington 6884-W.

Junior Garden Club Hears Flower Legends

The theme of the Arlington Junior Garden Club's meeting on Monday was myths and legends of our common flowers.

Rhoda Murphy read the history of the tulip, while Marjorie Swift told about the narcissus. Lois W. Sisson told of the pansy and the pansy's cousin, the viola. Other flowers mentioned were the Christmas rose and the hyacinth.

Because of the absence of the director, Mrs. Sotelo, who is vacationing in Florida, Mrs. Winslow C. Sisson will substitute for the month of February.

On February 17 the Juniors will have Miss Elizabeth Rice lecture to them on "Trees."

UNIVERSITY PRESENTS
GREAT CIVIL WAR FILM,
"SANTA FE TRAIL"

By Joseph Hoar
"Tin Pan Alley"

Starts Sunday

Betty Grable, Hollywood beauty a la mode, plays opposite Alice Faye in Darryl Zanuck's "Tin Pan Alley." Alice, forsaken by Tyrone Power who has taken to marking walls with swords, and Don Ameche who is inventing telephones elsewhere, has to contend with Jack Oakie who measures off his scenes with a ruler that covers everyone but him. Mr. Oakie, the first comedy co-star to play with Charles Chaplin in years, has become the first funny man of Hollywood. John Payne, who last acquitted himself nicely in "The Great Profile," is allotted the love interest. "Tin Pan Alley" has the nostalgia of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Rose of Washington Square" and "In Old Chicago," all starring Miss Faye.

When Rudy Vallee brought Alice Faye to Hollywood and she appeared in "George White's Scandals," she had much promise. That was about six years ago. Miss Faye has paid off in her promise and is now a tip top flight actress. "Doctor Kildare's Crisis" is the associate film with Robert Young meeting the vulnerable student surgeon of Lew Ayres.

"Santa Fe Trail"

For Four Days

Has All Big Stars

The cast in the Warner Brothers Picture, "Santa Fe Trail," starting Wednesday for four days, is not quite as distinguished as that of "Northwest Mounted Police" but it is a bounty. Besides the noble Errol Flynn and his lovely leading lady of "Robin Hood," "Captain Blood" and "The Charge of the Light Brigade," Olivia De Havilland, there is also the very famous stage actor who played "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," Mr. Raymond Massey.

In fact, mention of "Santa Fe Trail" by fluffy duff critics generally centers on the noted Mr. Massey and his characterization of John Brown. There is also a sterling piece of performance displayed by Moroni Olsen, current President of Boston's Leland Powers School.

"Santa Fe Trail" is a broad, sweeping epic of the "Dodge City," "Virginia City" type. It presents Mr. Flynn and young leading player Ronald Reagan as soldiers in the Civil War. It follows their romantic adventures and escapades through the hanging of famed John Brown whose "body lies a' mouldering in his grave." The companion film, and a good choice, is "Blondie Plays Cupid," which like Kildare is a series film and needs no introduction.

WITH LINCOLN, WE RESOLVE

Lincoln's Birthday takes on special significance this year as the country prepares to defend the principles whose champion he was. It was to uphold the principle—that all men are created equal—on which this country was founded, and to preserve the democratic nation that the Civil War was fought.

Today, the people of this country are strong in their support of our democratic government and firm in their determination to defend it. The majority of the citizens would give all aid possible to Great Britain which is now fighting the forces that would destroy democracy.

To give that aid men are working overtime. And the spirit they bring to their work is exemplified by the men in a California factory who gave their time—the idea was their own—to build a plane which was sent as a gift to England.

Youths go willingly to camp where they are being trained to defend this country's way of life should that defense become necessary, should Britain fall and war come to our shores.

With Lincoln, the country is resolved that "government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

A MEASURE OF DEFENSE

Every year scientists learn more about the relation of food to health. This information they have generously passed on to laymen until most of us believe that we are what we eat.

In years past many of us, particularly those of us who lived in the country, got our vitamins by luck rather than design. Plenty of butter, milk, fresh fruits, and vegetables were naturally part of our diets. We had never heard of Popeye but we ate our spinach just the same.

Today we are vitamin conscious. So many are the "ersatz" foods that it is fortunate we are. If we use margarine in place of butter we know now that we must make up the vitamins it lacks by eating more green foods, or we supply the deficiency by taking tablets which contain the needed vitamins.

The important fact is that we realize that certain foods are necessary to our health and we take pains to secure these foods.

It is in relation to this that the food stamp plan which Arlington is about to put into practice is particularly valuable. When a family has only a limited amount of money for food that money is apt to—in fact it must—go for staples. It buys tea, coffee, bread—too often white—meat, potatoes—too often peeled before they are boiled—white flour and butter or margarine. Fresh fruits and vegetables are in the luxury class.

Fortunately many of the surplus foods which can be bought with the blue stamps, one of which is given away with each two orange stamps purchased, are particularly high in vitamin value. On one list of surpluses were butter, eggs, whole wheat flour, fresh apples, fresh oranges, fresh grapefruit, fresh pears, fresh spinach and fresh cabbage—a wide range of vitamins.

The country, now more than ever, needs strong energetic citizens. So food becomes important to our national defense.

If men are to work long hours in munition factories, if they are to stand up under military training, they must be well fed. Laziness is no longer regarded as a moral defect but as a disease to be cured by proper diet. The right foods combat fatigue.

So Arlington is to be congratulated on the foresight of her officials in securing the designation of the town as a stamp area. It is both a measure of defense and a wise insurance of the future.

Auto Fatalities Decreased in 1940

Automobile fatalities in Arlington were two in 1940, according to the record of the Massachusetts Safety Council. In 1939 there were four fatalities. However, the number of injuries increased—356 in 1940 and 332 in 1939. There were 231 collisions during the past year. Arlington stands fifth in Class 3

—towns whose population is from twenty-five to fifty thousand. Pittsfield stands first in this group for the third successive year.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Gratto of 33 Russell street left this week to spend the month of February at Daytona Beach, Florida. They were accompanied by their daughter and her husband, Mrs. Ralph H. Rowse of Bedford and the Rev. Mr. Rowse.

News Briefs

From Switzerland comes the news that Marshal Petain accedes to Germany's demand that Laval return to the Vichy government, "to prevent the secession of northern occupied France."

General Weygand, in French North Africa, appeals to his command to stay out of the war, to accept armistice with Germany as final and to support the "national revolution" of the Petain government. Thus does he answer General de Gaulle, fighting for Britain, in his plea that they join ranks.

If Germany further violates continental France Weygand's powerful camel corps would be thrown actively with Britain—a deterrent, it's claimed.

Despite Hitler's aid to Italy, Britain's successes continue in Libya, Italian Eritrea and Ethiopia.

General John Metaxas, genius of Greek triumphs over the Fascist invaders, passes on. Alexander Korizis, his able assistant, takes over command as Premier.

United States Ambassador Leahy tells the French officials that England will win this war because of America's settled policy of aid to Britain. Hitler's defeat must be accomplished.

Guy J. Swope takes over Leahy's post as Governor of Puerto Rico.

Great Britain would have Uncle Sam abandon efforts to woo Soviet Russia and help her tighten her blockade against Germany. London views with alarm the increasing flow of American copper, cotton, oil, lead and molybdenum exports (to Russia) into Germany.

Lord Halifax tells Washington correspondents that Britain's war aim is to defeat Hitler; that its peace aim is to make whatever contribution necessary, including sacrifice, to prevent a future war. Will this satisfy La Follette, Wheeler and Nye? Probably not.

Hitler's threat—"Every ship, with or without convoy, that comes within range of our torpedo boats will be torpedoed," fails to scare Uncle Sam. We don't scare; we get mad.

A British banker of Shanghai, arriving here from the Orient, says that "the internal situation in Japan is anything but good; that there is a definite shortage of food; oil reserves are low; that American material and personnel in the air is immeasurably superior; that he has no fear of the outcome should the United States and Japan go to war." Beware of propaganda again.

Cordell Hull summons Wendell L. Willkie from England to tell what he has "seen with his own eyes." From London comes the statement that Willkie pities German invaders, after viewing British defenses.

England hopes to raise funds for arms by selling British-owned firms in the United States.

Wendell Willkie does not intend to be buried in the House of Representatives. He refuses the Republican Congressional nomination from the Seventeenth New York District. He cables "not interested."

The House begins a three-day debate on the lend-lease bill 1776, with its four amendments (1) a time limit of 2 1/2 years on these extraordinary powers; (2) Presidential reports to Congress every 3 months; (3) Consultation with chiefs of staff on disposal of defense equipment; (4) Specific exemption of convoys by U. S. naval vessels.

A glider manufacturer in the West predicts Germany's use of thousands of eight-man gliders in an invasion of England. William H. Bowls aided in the production of the Spirit of St. Louis and taught both the Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh to glide. He learns that Germany produces from 400 to 500 gliders per month. These, towed by bombers in trains of ten at an altitude of 20,000 feet, to later glide silently in formation on their mission of destruction, present another problem for England to solve.

"I never want to put anybody else to any trouble if I can help it."

"I signed up for your Funeral Prearrangement because I believe I know what the service should be like and what it should cost. Besides none of my kin will have the fuss and bother of making the arrangements."

People give many sound reasons why they make funeral arrangements in advance.

BANK FUND PREARRANGED FUNERAL

• Those choosing to prepay for the service name the bank in which money is to be deposited.

• They may make scheduled, budgeted payments or pay in full.

• The safety of their money is insured by U. S. Government.

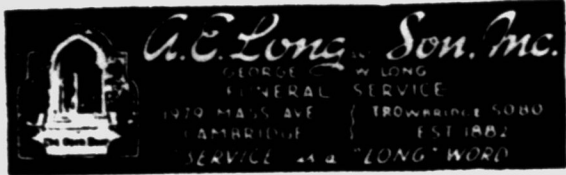

• No assessment charges nor other penalty of any kind.

• Every dollar is used for the purchase of funeral merchandise and service.

- Some think their folks might, for sentimental reasons, overspend.
- One man whose nearest of kin are very young may think that such a matter should not be left up to them.
- Another figures that his family will need every cent of the insurance money to get a new start. He plans as far as possible to leave no obligations that can be taken care of now.

Our Prearrangement Plan requires no prepayment yet may prefer to set aside the sum required to pay funeral expenses.

Why not write, phone, or call for our folder entitled "The Sensible Thing To Do."

Buick Adds Four New Models

Addition of four new models to the 1941 Buick Series 40 Special line of cars, having new torpedo styled bodies, three inches shorter wheelbase and a six inch reduction of overall length, was announced today by Harlow H. Curtice, president of the Buick division of General Motors Corporation.

The executive said that the cars have been entered in volume production and deliveries now are being made to dealers with public showing of the new models scheduled on last Saturday in showrooms throughout the country.

Designed as an addition to the lowest priced group of Buick cars, the new models will extend this manufacturer's price coverage to lower levels and will meet a demand for a compact, high performance automobile of the manufacturing standards specified for other Buick lines, Mr. Curtice said.

The four new models are built on a shortened Buick chassis having 118-inch wheelbase and include a six passenger, four door sedan, six passenger sport coupe with full width rear seat, three passenger business coupe, and six passenger convertible coupe with automatic top.

The new cars compare in design with the present Series 50 Buicks and exceed them in performance and economy, according to the announcement. Delivered prices at the factories in Flint range from $915 to $1138, representing reductions from $20 to $31 under corresponding models of the 121-inch Series 40 models, and $129 under the 121-inch wheelbase Series 50 convertible coupe, the next largest convertible in the Buick line.

With the exception of the three inch reduction in wheelbase, they have identical chassis units with the 121-inch wheelbase Series 40 cars, with radiators, hoods, and sheet metal the same as in the larger series and body trim, interior equipment and appointments identical within the limits of the new body styles.

Such standard Buick features as for-n-aft direction signals, actuated by a lever on the steering wheel post, remote control gear shifting, courtesy lights operated by door jam switches, concealed running boards, ash trays, assist cords and other interior conveniences are standard equipment on the new cars. Upholstery materials of the same specifications as the larger series 40 cars will be used. Similarly the same paint combinations are specified.

The new cars are powered by Buick's valve-in-head straight eight "Fireball" engine developing 115 horsepower at 3500 r.p.m., with optional compound carburetion raising horsepower to 125 at 3800 r.p.m. This is the same engine used in the Series 40 and Series 50 Buick cars, and with a higher power weight ratio in the new models delivers slightly improved performance and economy.

Other chassis units are identical such as torque tube drive, coil springs on all four wheels, knee action front suspension, hypoid rear axle gears, hydraulic brakes, all helical gear synchromesh transmissions, X-type frames and the like.

Gear ratios on the new cars are 4.1 to 1 standard and 3.9 to 1 optional.

"The general trend of automobile design has been to extend dimension rather than to curtail it, perhaps in search of an impression of bigness," Mr. Curtice said. "We have succeeded, in these new models, in reducing the overall length with only slight modification in interior dimensions, and with no decrease whatever in power, performance, comfort and economy."

"Buick is the fourth largest producer in the automobile industry. Actually, this newest group of models will bring cars of Buick standards of quality and performance very close in price to the three other high volume producers in the lowest price field."

which he considers the best in the country. Doubtless he found it interesting to hear a flute maker play.

Miss Marion Winn, a recent graduate from the Arlington High School, played Campamella by Liszt, and Capriccio by Scarlotti, on the piano to the enjoyment of all.

There were lovely flowers everywhere in token of Mrs. Muller's birthday, and the return of Mr. Muller from the hospital. Delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the concert.

The ushers and servers were Mrs. Harold Dodds, Mrs. Bella Leland, Mrs. Raymond Vinal, Mrs. Frances A. Caldwell, Mrs. Bowen Tufts, Mrs. Earl Keene, Miss Gracia Eagleson, Miss Virginia Brooks, and Miss Leona Powers. The pourers were: Mrs. Ernest Brooks and Mrs. Harold B. Wood. The three charming daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Muller graciously assisted in making the affair pleasant and sociable.

The affair proved so successful that already many new names are being received for sustaining membership in the organization, which bids fair to eclipse the fondest hopes of its sponsors.

Dr. Ernest Brooks is president of the society, and persons desiring to become members may contact him, or Mrs. Jessie Kennedy, secretary.

Jurors drawn by the Selectmen Monday night were as follows: for the first criminal session in Cambridge, March 4, Stefano Radocchia, 57 Richfield road, and John B. Farren, 125 Brattle street.

headquarters early this week as it appeared the quota might not be reached. Responding, however, to the recognized worth of the Fund agencies, Arlington residents gave generously.

There has been considerable rivalry among the various precincts in the contest to be first to report total solicitation. There is a close race with several Precincts One and Six with between other groups running close behind.

In commenting on the success of the Arlington drive as evidenced by approach to the quota, Mrs. Muller said:

"The members of the Campaign Committee wish we could meet personally and thank each individual solicitor who has rung a bell in Arlington. Some of those who have brought in the fewest pledges have done the most thorough and intelligent job, and we want them to know that their work is appreciated. To all the townspeople who have supported us in so many ways, we can only say 'Thank You.' Arlington has again lived up to her traditions."

COOK EXPLAINS STAMP PLAN TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

purchased by the grocer through the regular channels. He only supplies himself with what is necessary to take care of his orders so that the grocer should have no more spoilage than normal. Mr. Cook believes this plan to be much superior to dumping a lot of cabbages in Arlington to rot and a lot of beans in Florida where they are not consumed.

To fill the gap prior to state legislation enabling the town legally to purchase the orange stamps, the Menotomy Trust Company has generously offered to provide the funds necessary to start the stamp plan.

The orange stamps are given by the town and can not be used by others. The cost of blue stamp purchases is borne by the government. Thus 850 families in Arlington will be provided for in 1941 and this will include 2600 persons. The plan is operated under the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Surplus Marketing Division. All sections of relief are eligible except Old Age Assistance.

The merchants are provided with cards marked off in squares. When filled with stamps the ten dollars thus represented is redeemable at the bank. Mr. Cook estimates purchases will amount to $5,000 a month. He stated that the needy can now buy what they wish and not be obliged to take what they don't want. Approximately 40 merchants are expected to participate in the plan. The average allowance per family is $6.00.

A cashier will be paid by the town but in spite of this, Mr. Cook believes that the total town expenses for operating relief will be reduced.

Stores to Close Feb. 22

President Earl A. Ryder read a report from Chairman Malcolm Griffin recommending that the stores close on Washington's Birthday, whereupon Ralph Stevens moved that the Chamber recommend that its members close. This was carried.

At the dinner the invocation was pronounced by Willard A. Wallace, chairman of the Board of Public Works and immediately after dinner Anna B. Callahan presented her comprehensive secretary's report and Norman C. Jenkinson submitted the treasurer's report.
